

Roslyn Smith is an Accredited Practising Dietitian who has specialised in Diabetes for over 20 years. She is currently a Senior Diabetes Dietitian at Liverpool Hospital in South Western Sydney, and is undertaking research into the carbohydrate intake of women with gestational diabetes. She is an active member of the Dietitians Association of Australia Diabetes Interest Group steering committee, and owns a general private practice.